Privacy Policy

Creatorz | Effective October 13, 2026 | Draft pending data-practice details

1. Scope and controller

This Privacy Policy explains how Creatorz, located in Riverside, California, handles personal information when people use its websites, apps, and creator platform. Contact team@creatorz.app for privacy questions and requests. This draft must be matched to actual product behavior before it is published.

2. Information we collect

Information you provide may include your name, email address, login credentials, profile details, communications with us, and the content you upload or publish. If purchases or payouts are available, a payment provider may collect payment or payout details; confirm which fields Creatorz itself receives.

Depending on enabled features, we may collect device and browser information, IP address, usage events, cookies or similar identifiers, and approximate location derived from IP address. If users connect outside accounts, we may receive information authorized by those services. Confirm and narrow these categories to the data actually collected.

3. How we use information

We use information to provide and secure accounts; host, display, and deliver creator content; respond to support requests; process transactions if offered; prevent abuse; measure performance; comply with law; and communicate service updates. Marketing communications, personalization, targeted advertising, or AI model training must be described here only if actually performed, with required choices and consent.

4. When information is shared

Content and profile details you choose to make public may be visible to others. We may disclose information to vendors that help provide hosting, analytics, customer support, communications, or payments, subject to appropriate agreements. We may also disclose information at your direction, to comply with law or protect rights and safety, or as part of a business transaction. Insert the actual vendor categories and disclose any sale or sharing for targeted advertising if applicable.

5. Cookies and tracking

Creatorz may use necessary cookies or similar technologies for sign-in, security, and site operation. Any analytics, advertising, or optional cookies must be listed with their purposes and relevant choices. Where required, we will seek consent before placing nonessential cookies. Add a cookie settings link if optional tracking is used.

6. Retention and security

We keep information for as long as needed for the purposes described above, then delete or de-identify it unless a longer period is required for legal, accounting, dispute, or security reasons. Insert actual retention periods or criteria for account data, content, analytics, backups, and transaction records. We use reasonable organizational and technical safeguards, but no system can guarantee absolute security.

7. Your choices and rights

You may request access to, correction of, or deletion of your information and may object to or restrict certain processing where local law provides those rights. You may also request a portable copy where applicable. Contact team@creatorz.app. We may verify your identity before fulfilling a request and will not discriminate for exercising protected privacy rights. Include any required appeal process and opt-out links for applicable U.S. state laws.

8. International transfers

If personal information is transferred across borders, Creatorz will use any safeguards required by applicable law. Identify the countries where data is processed and, for users covered by European or UK privacy law, the actual transfer mechanism and legal bases for each processing purpose.

9. Children

The minimum user age is [minimum age]. Confirm whether the Service is directed to children or knowingly collects children's information. If so, this section and the product may need age-specific notices, parental consent, and controls before launch.

10. Changes and contact

We may update this Policy and will post the revised version with a new effective date. We will give additional notice when required. For questions or privacy requests, email team@creatorz.app.

Before publication

Confirm every collection category, purpose, vendor, retention period, location, tracking technology, AI use, child audience, and applicable privacy rights. Remove drafting instructions and unsupported categories before publishing.